Definition

Packaging Directive

The European Packaging Directive stipulates that the EU countries must adopt measures to reduce the amount of packaging waste and its impact on the environment.

Distributors

“distributors” are manufacturers and distributors who first put into circulation sales packaging filled with goods, which are typically used by private end consumers.

Statement

MA-Industrie GmbH (hereinafter “company”) is a manufacturer of high quality foam packaging. The company is located in Germany.

The company has taken and is maintaining the following measures in accordance to Packaging Directive 94/62/EU:

1. The company is registered at the central Packaging Register (LUCID) under the following registration number:
